SHOW BIG DECLINE IN PRICE OF PAINT

A comprehensive report has been issued by the builders' exchange on paints, oils, varnishes, etc., or in other words, the essentials that go into finishing a home, both interior and exterior. The report shows that there has been a slight decline in the price of these materials of a little over 40 per cent, or in other words, if the cost of painting and decorating a house in 1920 was $400, the cost of exactly the same program today would be $350, or a cash saving of $50.

Lined oil, the base of over half of all put work, the pre-war stage in 1914 started at 85 cents per gallon. In May, 1919, it reached the peak of $2.50 per gallon. January, 1920, showed a slight decline to $2.25, and from then to January, 1921, the rise was rapid until the new peak of $2.50. The decline to the present date has brought the price of this oil today brings $1.25, or within 35 cents of what it brought in 1914.

Another essential, turpentine, was quoted at 65 cents a gallon in 1914. To January, 1920, it was fairly steady, with an increase to $1.25. From that figure it soared to $3 in January, 1921, and has declined to the present day figure of $1.40, or to within 40 cents of the price in 1914.

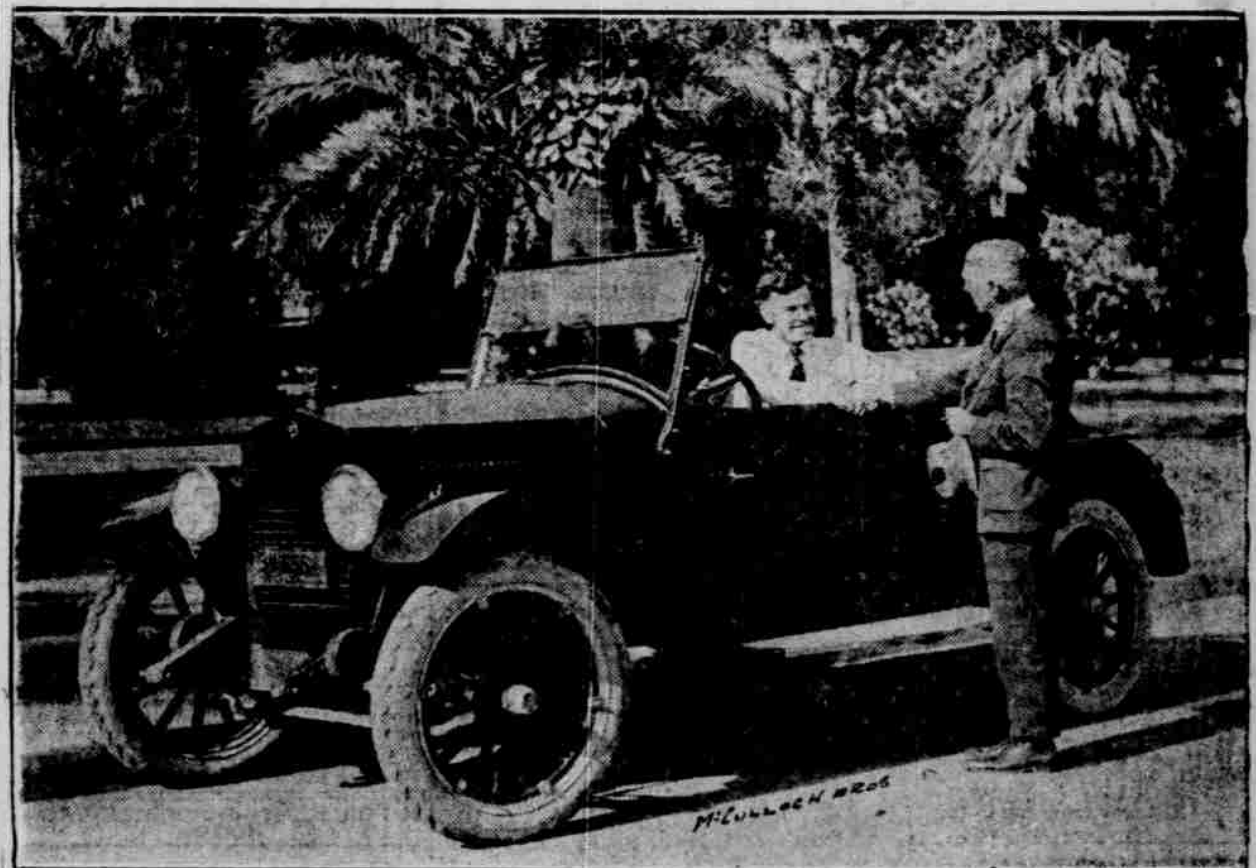

Ready mixed house paint reached the peak marked in January, 1921, at $4.90 per gallon, and now retails at $3.85. Paint money well spent is the greatest investment an owner can make, it preserves and beautifies at the same time and will add enormously to the asking price of any property. The general effect and financial return represents a fine dividend to the owner.

New Hudson-Essex Distributing Depot Is Tribute To Phoenix

G. H. Moriarity, manager of the new Harold L. Arnold Hudson and Essex distributing depot which is being located here, is shown at the wheel of the Essex in which he made the trip from Los Angeles to Phoenix. A. G. Dulmage is extending to him the glad hand upon his arrival. The establishment of this great parts and car distributing depot will enable Dulmage and Dunbar to offer unexcelled facilities to every owner of Hudson and Essex cars within their territory. The selection of Phoenix for this establishment is regarded as a distinct compliment to this city.

NATIONAL GUARD A TRAINING GROUND FOR FUTURE LEADERS

To be prepared, or not to be, that is the question. To be prepared signifies that you, as a citizen, have seen the duty of citizenship, have heard the call of your country for protection and have felt the quickened rush of blood through your veins when "Old Glory" has been in danger. To be prepared means only this, the pledging of what we have that our country might live. "We, the people of Arizona," pledge allegiance to our flag; to the republic for which it stands; one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice to all.

We, the people of Arizona, believe in this pledge and love it. We love our flag, we love our country, and we stand ready to defend it to the last drop of blood. We are not afraid to fight for them; that they love their families, mothers, sisters, brothers, sweethearts, well enough to protect them.

The National Guard is a training ground for future citizens. Its members today will be the force of tomorrow. It teaches its members how to live, how to care for their bodies and how to care for others. The training received by members of the National Guard is invaluable to them in any walk of life. What better might a man possess than a strong body, a strong mind and the will to do what is right for his God and country? These are some of the ideals the National Guard stands for. Are you interested in the National Guard? You should be. They represent to you the guardian of your honor, the ever-watchful parent who sees that no harm comes to any of their own. It stands for your protection; it represents to you law and order. It should be a great deal to you, Mr. Home Builder.

leave of the thousand or more who have filed application to return to their own country. The applications have been pending since the local consular office since the announcement that Mexico would pay the fares of all its citizens who desired to return to their native land.

Perly R. Milnes, state immigration commissioner, who has charge of the transportation of association Mexicans back to Mexico, is "personally conducting the tour."

Mr. Milnes left a few hours in advance of the truck loads of Mexicans making arrangements for their coming. "The advance guard" will arrange all the details relative to gas, oil, etc. While the party is made up entirely of Mexicans, exclusive of the "alien labor" class, Mr. Milnes is interesting himself in the matter as a courtesy to Mexico. He was asked by Mexican officials to co-operate in the return of their people, for which the Mexican government has advanced $5,000.

Some time ago Mexico agreed to pay for the return of any of its citizens on this side of the line who were in destitute circumstances. The offer of car fare was supplemented by the promise of land and the additional promise of work held out by the bureau of railroad.

The response has come from all parts of Arizona, man leaving yesterday by way of Nogales, while 1,000 have asked to return by way of El Paso.

Mr. Milnes received permission from the bureau of public roads for the use of trucks in transporting the Mexicans to Nogales, while those who leave for El Paso will make the trip by train.

Mary Charleson, whose vivacity, grace and charm are potent aids to the success of Henry B. Walthall's stage performance of "Taken In," a new comedy. Miss Charleson also appears as leading lady for Mr. Walthall in his dramatic "Roberts" coming to the Elks theater Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with matinees Saturday and Sunday.
